

James Reeser

And his HOT Blues Quartet.
Band member biographies.

Matt (Killer Kid) Young

Matt was a happenstance find for James. (It's a long story). Matt has been playing guitar since about the age of 8. He can play like he's on fire and with real soul and feeling. He knows when to lay back and when get on the gas. His instrument of choice is the legendary Stratocaster and he uses a Telecaster for a searing slide guitar sound. When performing on stage, Matt uses Victoria and vintage Fender amps.

Buck (Sweet Pea) Robinson

Buck is the last remaining member of James' original line-up. Sharing the spotlight with James for nearly 15 years, Buck came to the group as an accomplished musician. Buck's roots are in playing the upright bass in a Bluegrass band. His love of the Blues prompted him to devote his talents to this genre. His style is smooth and groovin' until you hit those swingin' tunes. That's when Sweet Pea turns it into a fast-paced, slappin' good time.

Pete (Sawdust) Muszkiewicz

Pete is the newest member of the group. While studying for a degree in music, Pete was asked to be a fill-in drummer when the regular drummer could not perform. This led to a permanent assignment. Pete has been playing drums since he was a young boy. He can keep a steady beat that makes dancing to this band's music a pure pleasure. (Sawdust is a reference to what's left of his sticks at the end of the night).

Pat (Part-time) Hansen

Pat is a long-time friend and part-time performer with the band. He is in high demand with area Blues bands and plays as many gigs with James as he can. He is a tone fiend which makes him a smooth player. He uses solid body and fat box guitars when on stage. Victoria amplifiers are used by Pat, exclusively. His influences cover a wide variety of Blues styles. Legends such as Albert King, Charlie Christian, Duke Robillard, T-Bone Walker, Jimmie Vaughn and Junior Watson are just a few. When Pat and Matt start jammim' together, they bring down the house!
